

High Five

is a social support group for parents with children who have a diagnosis of high functioning autism, ASD and those who are awaiting diagnosis.

We meet to share experiences with like-minded parents and gain practical support through sessions from professionals in the autism field.

Everyone who attends our meetings helps develop the group. You do not need to be invited or book, just turn up to one of our informal, friendly sessions.

We also hold various family events in the school holidays offering chance to get out in the community at minimal cost with nonjudgmental peer support.
